St. Charles County - The St. Charles County Department of Community Health and the Environment is pleased to announce the release of their first online newsletter which will focus on community health, pet, environmental and emergency management issues in St. Charles County. The free web-based, monthly newsletter titled, Health E-News, is available online at www.scchealth.org is also available for delivery via email.

Health E-News offers information and news from all four divisions of the St. Charles County Department of Community Health and the Environment including the Divisions of Emergency Management, Environmental Services, Humane Services and Public Health.

According to Gil Copley, Director of the Department of Community Health and the Environment, "We have implemented numerous face-to-face, educational programs in the last year that reach out to the community in a variety of settings ranging from schools to civic groups and service clubs. With the popularity of the Internet, the release of the web-based newsletter is a natural next step in delivering our message and will be a convenient way to keep county residents informed on department issues and programs. The 24-hour web presence makes it convenient for citizens to access Health E-News."

For more information on Health E-News or other services available at The St. Charles County Department of Community Health and the Environment visit www.scchealth.org or call 636-949-7400.
